Beware of Heat Stroke! Heat Stroke Prevention Measures That Can Be Done on a Regular Basis

Heat stroke is something you want to carefully avoid in the coming season. As it becomes hotter, the number of heat stroke victims gradually increases. Heat stroke occurs most easily when temperatures rise quickly, on days that are humid, and when your body has not acclimated to the summer heat. The risk of heat stroke is increasing due to the "heat island" effect and global warming.

Heat stroke occurs not only while working or playing sports in high temperatures but also as you go about your normal everyday life. Many elderly people can fall prey to it even in their own rooms. It is important to take measures to prevent heat stroke on a regular basis wherever you are during the summer so that you can enjoy the season comfortably.

Prevention Methods in Everyday Life

- (1) Avoid the summer heat. If you must step out, wear a hat and walk in the shade.
- (2) Choose clothes that are absorbent and breathable.
- (3) Keep in mind the importance of frequent fluid intake to replenish the water and salt you lose through perspiration.
- (4) Be careful on days that suddenly becomes hot after a series of cool days.
- (5) Do not overexert yourself when you are not at your physical best, such as after an illness or when you have a hangover.
- (6) Be considerate of each other while engaged in sports or other activities as a group so that no one around you will get heat stroke.

- (7) Keep a pitcher of water by your bedside so that you can drink water before going to sleep or after you wake up.
- (8) Adults should look after small children who are unable to tell those around them that they feel ill.

If You or Someone around You Gets Heat Stroke

- (1) Move to somewhere cooler, loosen any tight clothing, and cool the body with water or ice.
- (2) Replenish lost water and salt. (A cold sports drink is best.)
- (3) If the heat stroke victim is unable to drink water for any reason, take him/her to a hospital immediately. If the victim has such symptoms as a high body temperature or loss of consciousness, call an ambulance immediately.

Starting October 1, Individuals Will Be Fined for Smoking in No-Smoking Zones

A little over five years have passed since the enactment of the Suginami City Ordinance on Safety in Daily Living and Environment Beautification in October 2003.

During this period of time, Suginami City has striven to improve the manners of smokers by designating no-smoking zones (six zones—(1) through (6) listed below), conducting various awareness-raising activities, and conducting patrols for environment beautification.

Although some progress has been made, there are still smokers who fail to follow the rules. As a result, we continue to receive complaints from many residents.

Therefore, because there is a limit to how much the situation can be improved by simply conducting awareness-raising programs, Suginami City has decided to strictly enforce the no-smoking rules and fine violators of the city ordinance in designated no-smoking zones to further promote the safety of city residents and the beautification of the environment.

The fining system is described below. Publicity programs will be actively conducted from here on out, and we would appreciate your understanding and cooperation in this matter.

Applicable Behavior:

Smoking on the street in no-smoking zones (This includes the littering of cigarette butts.)

No-Smoking Zones;

(1) JR Nishiogikubo Station Area, (2) JR Ogikubo Station Area, (3) JR Asagaya Station Area, (4) JR Koenji Station Area, (5) Seibu-Shinjuku Line Kamiigusa Station Area, and (6) Keio-Inokashira Line Takaido Station Area

For more information on no-smoking zones, please see Suginami City's Web site (in Japanese).

Amount of Fine: ¥2,000 Fining Procedures:

- Collection of fines from violators of the city ordinance will be conducted by Suginami City Office employees.
- Fines will be collected directly on the spot or by invoice on a later date.

Effective Date: Starting October 1 (Thu.)

Inquiries: Environment Section

No-Smoking Zone Signs
